Bloomfield Lodge joins the Queensland Hotel Associations Hall of Fame at QHA Awards for Excellence

Bloomfield Lodge in tropical North Queensland has joined the Queensland Hotel Associations Hall of Fame after winning 'Best Boutique Accommodation' at the prestigious Queensland Hotels Association Awards for Excellence for three consecutive years.

The Queensland Hotels Association Awards for Excellence are an annual event, with more than 1000 members of the Queensland hotel industry gathered at the Royal International Convention Centre, Brisbane on Wednesday 1 October to attend a glittering black-tie gala presentation evening.

The QHA Awards for Excellence Program is designed to provide a forum for the public recognition of excellence in individual and group achievement by Queensland hotels and, in doing so, to encourage the pursuit of higher standards of service, presentation and trade practices within the hospitality industry.

The long term Bloomfield Lodge Managers Ben Morley and Courtenay Greer-Morley very proudly accepted the Hall of Fame award on behalf of Bloomfield Lodge. On accepting the award Ben said "The team at Bloomfield Lodge is passionate about providing their guests an outstanding world class experience with a warm friendly personalised and intuitive service that is attentive but unobtrusive. Our highly dedicated staff work hard on a daily basis towards the common goal of providing an excellent product that is hard to match, so it's a wonderful achievement to have that dedication recognised by our industry peers."
